

I thought, "I can never give my baby away!"

I mean, I don't want to be pregnant, I'm not ready to be a mom. But adoption for my baby?

I considered abortion, then I learned about open adoption.

I can pick the parents for my child.

I can get pictures and updates as my child grows.

I can make sure my child has the kind of life I want her to have, the kind of life I can't provide now. And I can still be a part of it!

I also learned that adoption is a decision both my baby and I can be proud of.

Learn the truth about adoption. It may be the right choice for you. Your baby is trusting you to make the best choice for both of you.

You might think...

"I could never give my baby away."

The truth is...

Adoption isn't giving your baby away.

Adoption is giving your baby a life, a stable family, and a future. No matter how far along you are, an unplanned pregnancy may make you feel like you are stuck. However the truth is you always have options. The choices you make at this point will affect your child's future, as well as your own.

Today, women choosing adoption play an active role in every part of the adoption process. You are able to customize your own adoption plan. You can make choices every step of the way.

Here are just a few of the choices you have with open adoption:

- * There are dozens of parents you can choose from. There are all kinds of families who are ready to adopt.
- * When you've chosen a family, you can email, talk on the phone, or even meet them before your baby is born!
- * You can decide how things go at the hospital. You can see and hold your baby. You can even name your baby!
- * You can keep in touch with the adoptive family after the adoption. You can share letters and pictures, phone calls, or even visits. It's your choice!
- * You can make plans for your future, with the peace of mind that you provided your baby with the life you wanted her to have.

It takes courage to be honest with yourself and to ask for help. Call and speak with someone about your options and learn more about open adoption: 1-800-923-6784.

"I never thought of choosing adoption as a way of giving my baby something. It seemed like I'd just be losing my child. But knowing there are families who would treat me like extended family, wow! I can always be a part of my child's life. I can't believe I almost missed the opportunity to give my baby this life."

"I like that I am able to talk about adoption without feeling pressured. I know adoption would be hard, but none of my choices are easy now. The idea of having a say in what happens is important to me. It feels like I get a choice."
~ Amanda, 18

"So, I still need to make a decision about what I'm going to do. I'm still thinking about adoption. I just want to do what is best for me and for my baby. Adoption could very well be the best thing... for both of us."
-Teresa, 24
